Highlights

- Explore the coastline to visit numerous National Parks including Wilson's Promontory and Phillip Island
  - Phillip Island is well known for its resident colonies of Little Penguins that come ashore every evening throughout the year
  - Maybe you'll also be lucky enough to see the elusive wombat at Wilson's Promontory
- You'll be awed as you drive the dramatic coastline between Melbourne to Sydney, where the ocean has carved out dramatic headlands and created beautiful coves and beaches
- Enjoy fresh seafood in the many coastal towns
- Jervis Bay is a popular place to visit with its brilliant white sand
- The scenery is constantly changing with lush farms, stunning National Parks, beaches and lakes
- You could make this a round trip, by returning inland, visiting the Nation's capital, Canberra or exploring the Blue Mountains just west of Sydney
- There are some freedom camps (free or low cost camping) along the coast, however on this route there are more commercial and national park camping grounds.
